A: Because it's your job to scramble right

You should never let a misscramble go out to a solving station. But it matters most for high-level competitors where a misscramble could take away a record. This comp has people who are capable of setting records. The gold stars tell you when to take extra care.

For gold-star scorecards:

- If you are scrambling alone, double-check the scramble before signing on the gold star.
- If you are scrambling with another scrambler, both of you should verify the scramble before you sign on the gold star.

Don't be the one who ruined someone's record because you misscrambled.
